

illegally conveyed state property; September 2005, House Bill 706 which would have lowered state teacher standards; August 2006, Senate Bill 542 which would have excluded some organizations access to state buildings; and August 2007, House Bill 1761 which would have given some businesses unfair tax breaks. All of the governor's previous vetoes have been sustained.

###